

SportsPress plugin is a great choice to turn your website into a hub of information about your team and your players. From seasons and league overviews to team information, the plugin allows you to include as little or as much detail as possible.

1. Player Profiles

Use player profiles to display background information about your players as well as their stats from each individual game or to let them see how they performed during the season. Take it one step further by incorporating the BuddyPress for SportsPress extension and adding them as members where they can share more personal information with your fans as well as interact with each other and build team spirit.

2. Statistics

An overview of a player's win, loss, and draw ratio can help them understand how they contribute to their team and which area of their game they need to focus on. This can help motivate them to train harder and to prepare more for upcoming matches.

3. Team Access

Add your team managers as staff members and let them upload and maintain information about their team and the team players. They can also add new matches, new clubs, or additional staff members.

4. Timelines

A visual timeline of a match is a great aid for post-match analysis. It helps your players and coaches remember what happened as they plan a strategy for the upcoming match and it can help them predict how a future match against the same team might play out.

5. Staff Directories

Knowing who is in charge of what team or what role they have in your team is helpful when you are trying to arrange a match. Entering everyone on your staff ensures the other team managers or league managers know the right person to contact for anything related to your team. It also helps your fans and sponsors as well as press members to get in touch with your team and arrange press coverage or potential sponsorship.

6. Match Stats

Match stats are another way to encourage team members as they can see a head to head comparison of their performance vs another team's performance in the same league. Make it even more interesting by enabling comments and encouraging a discussion between team players as well as your fans.

7. User Scores

User Scores module provides your players, team managers, and league managers with the ability to enter scores for any player on their team, all teams (if the logged in user is a league manager) or their own scores (if the logged in user is a player) as long as they are logged into your site. This lets them keep track of their progress and interact with your site as often as they'd like.
